AFFAIRS IN BROOKLYN.

" HOW TO VOTE."

THE REV. CORTLAND MYERS TELLS VOTERS HOW TO SAVE THE FAIR NAME

OF BROOKLYN.

The second of the services conducted by the Rev. Cortland Myers in the Academy of Music drew a large audience yesterday morning. Mr. Myers advised his hearers to be guided by their consciences in voting. His sermon was upon "How to Vote," and in the course of it he said: "Your to Vote," and in the course of it he said: "Your municipal government is in peril. You must put down this damnable official trickery. It can be done by casting your ballots for God. You have a deep interest in a pure city government and the selection of an uprish magistrate for the city. The men of Brooklyn are stockholders in the city, and each one represents a millionth part of the city. Each one is a king, and it is a sacred duty to vote and to see that the vote is not tampered with. The ballot-box is the most sacred thing in the community.

"The control of the municipal government in this fair city is in the hands of a machine, and the lever of the machine is in the hands of a conscienceless boss, "ho must be downed if you desire to save the pure name of Brooklyn."

FOUND HIS SON AN OYSTER PLANTER. BROOKLYN BOY ON THE ROAD TO FORTUNE.

AND A FATHER'S HAPPY DISCOVERY. A year ago the thirteen-year-old son of Jeremiah Murphy, of No. 96 South Sixth-st., Brooklyn, was Murphy, of No. 96 South Sixth-st., Brooklyn, was taken from a Brooklyn Home by a farmer named Fahey, of Bridgehampton, L. I. The boy did not remain long with Fahey, and started to walk to Brooklyn to his father's home. He did not reach there, however, and the father began a search for his missing boy. Murphy was rewarded on Friday by finding the youth at Good Ground, L. I., where he is the owner of a three-acre oyster bed and two oyster boats, and with money in the bank. The boy is living under the name of "Captain Jim Dunn," and is one of the most popular youths in

The father of the boy had tramped over the greater part of Long Island since his disappearance, only returning a week ago, tired and foot-ance, only returning a week ago, tired and footsore, without success.

An account of his tramp was read by Captain Hand, of Good Ground, who informed the father that he believed that young Captain Jim Dunn in their town was his missing son.

Murphy was without funds and started to tramp to Good Ground on Tuesday, reaching there on Thursday night. On Friday he found Captain Hand, and learned from him where "Cantain Jim Dunn" was living. The boy was boarding with Sydney C. Bellows, whose dwelling was near the water front. As he neared the house Murphy saw a man and boy leaving the yard and go toward the water. He recognized the boy as his son and called him by name. The youth, however, did not recognize the name, and continued on toward the water. Murphy soon overtook the two, and exclaimed:

"Why, Jerry, don't you know your father."

"The boy declared that he was not his father.

"My name is Captain Jim Dunn, an oyster planter, said he.

The boy refused to recognize Murphy as his father until the latter told him that since his disappearance his mother and brother were dead, and they were alone in the world. This caused the boy to weep, and he then greeted his father,

"The reason I didn't want to recognize you, father,
"The reason I didn't want to recognize you, father,
"The reason I didn't want to recognize you, father,

the boy to weep, and he then greeted his lather with a kirs.

"The reason I didn't want to recognize you, father, before," said Jerry, "was because I was afraid that you would take me away with you."

The boy then told his father of his good luck. He said he started to walk to his home from Bridgehampton, and on reaching Good Ground found employment with Mr. Bellows, who kept a large boarding-house during the summer season. He saved his money, and "tips" given to him by the boarders, and had purchased the oyster bed, from which he intended to make a small fortune. The boy supplied his father with sufficient money to reach Brooklyn, and promises to support him comfortably as soon as he begins making money.

JUMPED FROM A FERRYBOAT. was made by George An attempt at suicide Powell, a waiter, of No. 437 Fifth-ave., yesterday pening He jumped into the East River Iro Fulton ferryboat Farragut, while the vessel was on her way from New-York to Brooklyn, shortly after midnight. The vessel was stopped and two men went off in a small boat and succeeded in men went off in a small boat and succeeded in rescuing him. A fellow-passenger named John Murphy, of No. 144 Tillary-st., gave to the police a note Powell handed to him just before he sprang overboard. It was addressed to S. H. Roy, of No. 437 Fifth-ave., and contained farewell messages to Powell's mother, sister and other relastives. He said in it that he was tired of living, and that drinking was his ruin. He asked to be decently buried if his body was recovered. Powell was sent to jail yesterday to await examination of a charge of attempted suicide.

HIS SKULL FRACTURED WITH A SHOVEL. William Bageaela, twenty-seven years old, an Italian, living at No. 1,404 Myrtle-ave., was removed last evening to St. Catherine's Hospital suffering from a fractured skull. His assailant, James Mal-letto, was arrested and locked up in the Twentieth Precinct Station. The assault was committed with a shovel, and was the result of a quarrel. Michael Ralatoe and Aspe Petti, who joined in the encounter, were cut about the head and face. Their wounds were dressed by an ambulance surgeon.

GATHERED ABOUT THE TOWN.

Mrs. Lares Erichson, of No. 522 Classon-ave., was knocked down by a trolley car at Fulton and Bond sts., late Saturday night, and her right foot was run over and crushed at the ankle. She was taken to the Brooklyn Hospital, where it is thought that her foot will have to be amputated. Mrs. Erichson had alighted from one car and was crossing the track in front of one going in the opposite direction when knocked down.

The Rev. Robert J. Kent preached last evening in the Lewis Avenue Congregational Church, upon "The Duties of Citizenship," and spoke with es-pecial praise of the work done by the Citizens' Union in the present campaign.

The Rev. John Robertson, paster of the largest church in Scotland, preached yesterday for Dr. Talmage in the Tabernacle.

A few horse-cars are still to be seen near the City Hall. The Crosstown Line, which uses the tracks of the Brooklyn City and Atlantic Avenue companies between that point and South Ferry, gives no sign as yet of using the trolley.

HIS SWEETHEART GOT HIS RELEASE.

John Fitzsimmons, of No. 415 West Thirtieth-st., on Friday, in the Jefferson Market Court, complained that his brother Charles of the same ad-dress, had been drunk, and had been breaking furniture about the house. He gave his brother a bad character generally, so Justice Hogan com-mitted Charles Fitzsimmons for six months.

Yesterday a rosy-cheeked, little woman presented herself at the Jefferson Market Court with a letter from Judge Fitzgerald, of the Court of Ger eral Sessions, asking for Fitzsimmons's discharge. The woman blushed when Justice Hogan asked her relation to the prisoner. "We are not related, as yet, Your Honor," she recilied.

We are not related, as yet, replied.

It then came out that she was engaged to Fitz-simmons. She said her name was Julia Hogan, of No. 612 West Thirtieth-st. She said she could control her future husband, and thought she would be able to reform him. They are to be married in three months.

Justice Hogan gave her an order on the Department of Charities and Correction for Fitzsimmons's discharge.

NEW-JERSEY.

RUTHERFORD.

Two weeks ago the Rev. George H. Badger, pastor of the Unitarian Church of Our Father, caused a stir in local church circles by invitations to deliver a series of discourses in his church which he sent to the Rev. Dr. E. A. Bulkley, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church; the Rev. Francis J. Clayton, rector of Grace Protestant Episcopal Church; the Rev. W. M. Trumbower, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and the Rev. E. J. Cooper, pastor of the Baptist Church. Among the subjects suggested by the Rev. Mr. Badger were "The Bible." "Atonement" and "Retribution After Death." Yesterday morning he told, in his sermon, of the manner in which the invitations had been received. Three ministers declined absolutely: one received. Three ministers declined absolutely: one received. Three ministers declined absolutely: one good" could come of an acceptance; another, "from reasons of courtesy," forebore to give his reasons for declining. The Rev. E. J. Cooper accepted on condition that "union meetings," to be held in a public hall, be arranged. The Unitarian minister, after extending the thanks of himself and congregation to his Baptist brother, said he had no doubt that each minister was thoroughly conscientious in his refusal, which could be explained on the ground that the Unitarian Church was not a proper place for a Christian discourse; that it was not recognized as a co-worker for good in the community, or that other ministers thought their views and creeds would not bear logical investigation. sent to the Rev. Dr. E. A. Bulkley, pastor of the

He was removed to the Elizabeth Hospital.

NEW-YORK CITY.

During the last week workingmen have been busily engaged in cleaning out the cable siot of the new Third-ave, cable road along Park Row, and it is hoped that the cars will be soon running. John H. Hood spoke last evening before a good-sized audience at the Bowery branch of the Young Men's Christian Association, No. 153 Bowery. There will be a meeting to consider "Dispensaries -Their Uses and Abuses," at the Academy of Medicine, No. 17 West Forty-third-st., this evening at 8 o'clock. The discussion will be opened with the reading of a paper on the subject by Charles C. Savage, president of the De Milt Dispensary.

The Third Avenue Railroad Company, when it gets its cable in operation, should take as its model the cables in Chicago, not the one in Broadway.

People who are impatient to see work on the new East River Bridge begun should remember that nothing can be done in advance of a decision by the General Term of the Supreme Court on the right of the bridge company to build a crosstown

In the New-York station of the Brooklyn Bridge there is a demonstration of the way in which a stairway may be got rid of in part by an inclined plane. The same thing may be seen on the river side of each of the Bridge towers. If this idea had been conceived by the builders of the staucture stairways might have been dispensed with altogether on the promenade, and to a considerable extent in the stations.

The steamship Bonn, Captain Thompson, from Liverpool, with merchandise and four cabin passengers, arrived at the bar at 5.21 a. m. yesterday. She had fine weather throughout the passage, which was made in 9 days, 2 hours and 12 minutes This beats the best time ever made by a freight steamer from Liverpool. The body of J. D. Newman was buried in Woodlawn yesterday, after Masonic services at his home No. 58 West Ninety-third-st. ANOTHER PUNCHBOWL FOR A MAINE SHIP.

It is only three months since the citizens of Machias, Me., gave to the new Navy gunboat bearing that name a massive silver punchbowl acknowledgment of the courtesy of the Government in naming the vessel. The citizens of Castine, in acknowledgment of a similar courtesy in naming the sister vessel of the Machias in honor naming the sister vessel of the Machias in honor of that town, have presented a punchbowl, costing $500 and handsomely engraved, to that vessel. Castine is not only one of the oldest and finest towns in New-England, but it is an old town with a military history. It was originally a French settlement and the home of Baron St. Castin, from whom it took its name. It was also the birthplace of several officers of the Army and Navy, and ten of its daughters are now wives of these land and sea defenders.
